

Small Band Gives Santa's Sleigh A Generous Push

When the WHFB weatherman predicted this morning that Ye Good Fellow editor could put on a lighter weight coat than he's been hauling around since the week-end, his emotions, to rephrase the old cliché, were mixed - distinctly so.

There was the personal gratification in learning a cold, biting wind would moderate.

There was also the fear that a milder clime might take some of the zest from this drive. The latter proved to be just another hunch gone wrong.

While today's contributors are short in number, their gifts are most generous.

With $130 peeking out from the till, it is one of the larger single day's efforts this year.

BARE MINIMUM

This pushes the current up to $1,375.75 and reduces the deficit to $2,124.25. Deficit, in this instance, means the difference between what is on hand and what is needed as a bare minimum to do the job.

Arnold R. Essig, the justice of the peace at Bridgman, fined himself $5 and forwarded the levy in the morning mail.

"Even the law has to give an accounting once in a while," might be the appropriate comment here. Arnold didn't say it; we just made it up. Anyway, he's one of our steady Helpers through the years.

We said today's contributors are short in number.

It depends on the definition because if the next two donors were counted up, we would find 18 in one group and 173 in the second.

The St. Joseph Firemen are hired first to prevent mishaps but if one does occur, then to stamp it out immediately.

This morning they are reversing the procedure, by throwing a $25 log on the Good Fellow hearth. This outpouring is in addition to their self appointed job of collecting used toys for poor kids.

TEACHERS HELP

The next check, a $100 marker, comes from another unit due shortly to take a breather from another important assignment in public life. It comes from the St. Joseph public school teachers. We're a little pressed for time this morning to search the record completely, but we'll state in comparative safety that the teachers have been pitching in every year since this campaign began in 1931. The faces change from term to term, but the idea does not.

Thank you, Good Fellows now on the line.

Just as a further reminder - the Newsie sale is on tomorrow afternoon. Come to town and buy a paper.

BIDS ARE ASKED ON NUCLEAR POWER PLANT AT I. & M.'S BRIDGMAN SITE

Mighty Windfall In Taxes

Benefits Wondrous To Behold

By JERRY KRIEGER
County-Farm Editor

The $130 million nuclear power plant proposed for construction in the northwestern corner of Lake township can generate a mighty windfall of tax revenue for the three governmental units in which it would be located—the Bridgman school district, Lake township, and Berrien county.

Far and away the most costly construction project ever instituted in Berrien county, the plant alone would boost the county's tax valuation approximately 12 per cent.

Lake township, which has the fifth smallest valuation of any township in this county, would see its total property valuation figure multiply nearly tenfold. The equalized value of all taxable property in Lake township today stands at $6,489,038. The equalized value of a $130 million plant presumably would be about $60 million, according to state tax laws which call for property valuations to be equalized at 50 per cent of market value.

SCHOOL 'SANTY'

It would be a Santa Claus to the Bridgman school district. Based on an estimated $60 million equalized valuation for the plant, it would pay about $1,300,000 in school taxes, if the 21.784 mills assessed in the district this year were in effect then. More likely, this golden bonanza would result in a sharp lowering of the tax millage for all district tax payers.

Actually the site for Indiana & Michigan Electric company's nuclear plan is not yet legally a part of the Bridgman district. It is in the Hathaway elementary district, which will be absorbed into the Bridgman district next June as result of the county school reorganization election last October 3. Voters in the Hathaway district voted heavily against the merger, but a much bigger vote by Bridgman voters nevertheless pulled Hathaway in. Bridgman voters were well aware a big tax-producing power plant was going to be built in the Hathaway district some day.

Lake township, which is only raising $4,781 in taxes this year, would realize about $46,000 more from the proposed plant, if it still levied the .771 of a mill taken this year.

of world's largest, costing an estimated $130 million. Plant is proposed for Lake Michigan shoreline just north of Livingston road (at left in photo). This view looks west toward lake with Chesapeake & Ohio railroad tracks, Red Arrow highway and

Could Be Operating By 1972

$130 Million Is Cost Of Construction

The Indiana & Michigan Electric Co. and its parent firm, American Electric Power, announced today that I&M has asked for bids to build a nuclear power generating plant on Lake Michigan at Bridgman.

Estimated to cost approximately $130 million, the plant would house a light-water reactor capable of generating 1 to 1.1 million kilowatts of electricity. A reactor of this size would make it one of the world's largest, according to Donald C. Cook, president of both I. & M. and AEP.

Cook said a final decision on proceeding with the project will come next summer. The bids asked from three principal reactor manufacturers are to be submitted by Feb. 1, followed by a technical and economic evaluation of each proposal.

DEPENDS ON BIDS

"If the low bid demonstrates, as we believe will be the case, that atomic power can compete with conventional power in the I&M area," said R. E. Doyle, Jr., vice president and general manager of I&M, "then the atom will take its rightful place as a partner to complement coal in our never-ending effort to bring abundant, low cost electricity to the 5.7 million people the AEP system is privileged to serve."

Provided the bids are acceptable, construction presumably would start soon after the final decision is made next summer, and the announcement said the construction schedule would anticipate commercial operation of the plant by early 1972.

Site for the projected nuclear plant is a 644-acre tract, consisting mainly of vacant lakefront land stretching from Lake Michigan eastward to Red Arrow highway north of Bridgman in Lake township.

SIGNIFICANCE

Construction of the I&M plant would make southwestern Michigan one of the nuclear power plant capitals of the world. Consumers Power Co. only 10 months ago announced it will build a $100 million nuclear plant with 700,000 kilowatt capacity on the lakefront in Covert township, Van Buren county.

The two sites are approximately 27 air miles apart. Preliminary construction is already underway on the Consumers Power facility.

I&M General Manager Doyle indicated that atomic fuel was chosen for the Bridgman plant because "nuclear power clearly offered the lowest over-all cost for satisfying the growing power demands of customers in the northern Indiana-southwestern Michigan area." He said comparisons were figured between atomic fuel and the present and projected costs of coal and transportation.

The Lake township site is close to a principal I&M load center, Doyle explained, but some 300 to 400 miles from major coal fields, thus making the delivered cost of coal here the highest in the seven-state AEP system. This location, therefore, is the most logical for the AEP

Jackie Will Sue To Halt Publication

Presses All Set To Roll With 'Distorted' Tale

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy says she is prepared to relive her grief and shock after the assassination of her husband in order to legally block publication of a book about the tragedy.

The outlook for her is horrible, she said.

The book, which the Kennedy family had authorized, is "Death of a President," by William Manchester. It describes the assassination of President Kennedy in Dallas, Nov. 22, 1963, and the events in the days immediately afterward.

Mrs. Kennedy calls it "tasteful and distorted."

"As horrible as a trial will be," she says, "it now seems clear that my only redress is to ask the courts to enforce my rights."

Her attorneys said they are preparing papers seeking a temporary injunction to stop the book's publication and would file them in two or three days. Summonses already have been served on Harper & Row, book publisher, and Cowles Communications, Inc., publishers of Look magazine.

The magazine, which reportedly paid Manchester $650,000 for the serial rights to his book, scheduled publication of the first article for Jan. 10. Harper & Row plans to bring out the book next April.

VIEW OF FRICTION

The impending lawsuit, and a mention of "inaccurate and unfair references to other individuals" in a statement by Mrs. Kennedy about Manchester's book, may throw some light long-standing reports of friction between the Kennedys and President Johnson. It assertedly began on the plane that brought Kennedy's body from Dallas to Washington after the assassination.

A friend of the Kennedy family said Manchester's book depicts Mrs. Kennedy as having been "upset because LBJ kept the plane on the ground too long in Dallas, waiting to be sworn in as president."

Another version of this incident is that Mrs. Kennedy and Kenneth O'Donnell, special assistant to the assassinated President, boarded the plane and ordered the pilot to take off at once. Johnson reportedly countermanded the order.

Sources close to the Kennedy family said Manchester's book contains "other things that involve LBJ which are distorted and unfair."

Last Nov. 22 — the third anniversary of the assassination — Malcolm M. Kilduff, press aide in charge of the presidential changeover at Dallas, said in an interview:

"I think that there are things (See back page, sec. 1, col. 5)

Slapping A Stogie On Hoffa

Jimmy Hoffa, czar of the Teamsters Union, lost a decisive round to the government this week in his lengthy battle to avoid a prison term for conduct unbecoming a good citizen.

By a divided decision, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled there is nothing improper about planting a stool pigeon around a suspect as one means of getting the latter to entrap himself.

Hoffa's attorneys argued that the stool pigeon is just as unreasonable a search and seizure under the Fourth Amendment as is a wire tap which the Court has declared out of bounds.

Speaking for the majority, Justice Potter Stewart, who like Jimmy is a Michigander, said:

"Neither this court nor any member of it has ever expressed the view that the Fourth Amendment protects a wrongdoer's, is placed belief that a person to whom he voluntarily confides his wrongdoing will not reveal it."

In simple language, if one talks, he has to expect his audience may repeat the message.

The Justice Department has been on Hoffa's trail a long time, most of it on false scents.

Nine years ago, however, the Department did nail him on a conviction for tampering with a jury which was trying him on a bribery charge.

Later the government secured a conviction against him for defrauding his union's pension fund. This one is due for appeal to the Washington Court by the year's end.

The Internal Revenue is also after him for a $24,371 income tax settlement which is supposed to be paid within the next few days.

The government got to one of Hoffa's subordinates. It was his testimony on what Jimmy said about the jury tampering that led to the conviction ruled upon this week.

The layman may wonder what is the difference between a wire tap and a stoolie.

Thirty-six years ago the Court found none, except the distinction between an electronic pick-up and a human one.

Not too long ago the Court reversed its predecessors on wire tapping which Stewart calls "a surreptitious eaves-dropper."

The difference is not in Hoffa being the motivation for the diverging direction, but a realization among some of the Court's members that in their recent enthusiasm for upholding individual rights at all costs they may have gone too far in this battle between the good guys and the bad guys.

Only a few weeks ago, the Court sustained the sheriff's forcible eviction of civil rights demonstrators from the jail's courtyard, despite impassioned pleas such action infringes upon free speech and the right of peaceable assembly.

The informer has been an immemorial means of pulling the wrongdoer into the law's net. Had the Court held to its analogy of the wire tap, law abiding society would have taken another rap on the chin.

The door is not completely closed against Hoffa.

His lawyers feel there are two or three other maneuvers, including a petition for a re-hearing, to stave off serving the sentence.

Should those tacks fail to catch sufficient breeze in the sail, things seemingly will go on as before within the Teamsters domain.

Anticipating Jimmy's possible absence, his obliging executive board rewrote the union's rules last year which would allow him to remain as the Teamsters' boss and run the operation from jail.

Hoffa took that move to put down an incipient rebellion from certain district captains who saw a chance in the law's process to install new hands at the controls.

Dire Prediction

Frank M. Stead, chief of environmental sanitation for the California State Department of Public Health, says gasoline-powered motor vehicles must be banned in his state by 1980. Just like that.

Such an edict, which would have been unthinkable up to now, has moved into the realm of the possible with the announcement that at least two major auto manufacturers are developing plans for greatly improved electric cars.

Thus far there are gigantic drawback to the electric car, which is seen chiefly on golf courses. Chief among them is the fact that it cannot go long distances without the necessity of recharging its batteries. But it doesn't give off noxious fumes, and it may be possible to overcome the battery problem. Perhaps a mobile generator can be invented which will charge them while in motion, much as planes can be refueled in flight.

This, admittedly, would be quite a sight on the super highway.

Stead says California's "fixed air capacity to receive wastes" will soon be hopelessly overtaxed. Public health will be jeopardized, he contends, unless electric cars and trucks are made compulsory.

Necessary as this might become in highly-populated areas, it would be an extremely difficult task to bring about any such law. Not only will the automotive industry, which has billions invested in designs, tools, equipment, research, executives and workers engaged in the manufacture and improvement of the gasoline engine, fight it. So will the petroleum industry, which is big in California and influential everywhere.

Still, air pollution is a problem of the first magnitude, and it grows larger all the time. As the atmosphere becomes increasingly saturated with noxious substances, pollution will cease to be only an annoyance and a danger and become a killer. When that day comes something will have to be done, and swiftly.

It would seem only a matter of good sense for the oil and automotive industries to pool their resources in a search for a gasoline engine that doesn't produce noxious fumes — or at least not in such quantity.

The Biggest Christmas

Anybody can see that this will be the biggest Christmas ever — as measured by business statistics. Department store sales nationwide are higher. Merchants who reordered have found that they underestimated the demand even on the second guess.

Stocks are short, and with quite a few shopping days left, buyers are already haunting the aisles.

That's the situation this year, and of course to a certain extent the prosperity is war born. Consumer demand has been spurred, as is always the case in war time. Defense spending of $60 billion a year has a terrific impact upon the economy.

Take home pay and purchasing power for factory workers have been rising until they are at new high levels. That's one place where the money that's flowing this Christmas came from. There are other sources, too. High activity has meant good salaries, good profits, good dividends.

Some of man's earliest civilizations rose in what is now Iraq. It was in this land that Sumeria, Assyria, and Babylonia flourished, and the wheel, writing, and the plow probably developed, the National Geographic says.

Bolivia's Lake Titicaca, the highest navigable lake in the world, stands 12,506 feet above sea level, the National Geographic says.

He hastened to add however that "this does not mean that we are abandoning the idea of battleships, but it takes longer to build them."

The measure to increase the size of the Navy along with proposals to extend the draft age limits and to give the president extraordinary control over government functions were ready for swift Congressional action.

Letters To The Editor...

Editor,
The Herald-Press:

SLEEPER LAW

Your Paw Paw bureau representative, Bill Hamilton, pointed out another "first" on his typewriter as one reads in stark black headlines in the Herald-Press, "H I D D E N Law Calls For Curb on News."

Now, just how far does our honorable legislature think they will get on this assumed potential in our march of progress or sleeper clause as Bill terms it?

In the first place, where have we, the people been during the time when this law was born and in the interim? Here we have a beautiful picture of the value of the daily press, which, according to this news item will be, in part, suppressed if the citizens of our state are so over-stupid as to even think of such a mandate, let alone supporting something that is contrary to the freedom of the news media.

Accidents on the streets and highways are as much public property as any offense, lawless or unintentional. As to the part of the police involved I doubt very much if any well trained, solid thinking policeman would even form an opinion, let alone voice it or, for that matter even put it in writing. His only job is to write the facts as he knows them to be and these facts are public property, even though in the hands and files of the police. The people of the state should flood the postoffice with objections to this un-American scheme even if it has to crowd out the Christmas mail.

How in Sam Hill is it possible for a newsman to dig out such important facts, right under our very noses and which by some hook or crook have been hidden in the archives away from public scrutiny? This is not the first time Hamilton struck a Ronanza and given the rank and file of wage earners and their paymasters something to worry over and be concerned about.

One thing is certain. We had better nip this crazy law in the bud right now lest it take root and grow into another and bigger act of suppression.

Let's not take too much for granted. The complete freedom of the press must never, under any circumstances or conditions, for any reason whatever, or for any purpose, individually or collectively, either political or social be suppressed. Once we begin to cut into the sacred right of the news, the bells and melody of the Star Spangled Banner will turn into a dirge. It is a perfect way to build an iron curtain and barbed wire fence around the nation. Those who would relinquish the right to print the news, all the news, all the time, in all truth would be the first ones to call for press help in time of need, aid or assistance.

Read Hamilton's article again and wake up. I seem to detect the decayed odor of subversion somewhere. Write your Congressman, and the Governor, in fact, write L.B.J. They and we are no more important than we are. In fact we put them where they are. Now, let them return the courtesy. That makes sense. WILLIAM A. RODGERS, Bridgman

The Editor,

AGING BUT NOT AGED

Dec. 7 carries memories of a tragic day and night for the USA. I try not to dwell on it too much, except as a warning for the future!
I'm more engrossed and encouraged over two major events in Berrien county recently.

We should be extremely proud and grateful, and we are, for receiving one of the first government grants for The Council on Aging. We are thankful to Rabbi Irving Dick of Benton Harbor, who worked long and faithfully and hard for this. We who helped on the steering committee and then and now, the temporary board of directors and officers, tried to help him, had the privilege to work with Rabbi Dick to get this project started and accomplished to a going group.

Yes, we in all of Berrien county from different walks of life are singularly blessed to have two fine gentlemen of whom to be proud. Also two more modest men can seldom be found.

Allie Chauncey of Bridgman has contributed much to our greater Berrien county. He personifies what our community stands for in action. Our future looks like "The Bright New World" spoken of and dreamed about since World War II, especially with these two modest men to guide us and show us the way!

Allie Chauncey reached his 99th birthday on Thanksgiving day. While he already has written two books, indigenous to Berrien county, I feel Allie Chauncey does not sit back in the sunshine of his old age and glory of his past. Rather, I'm sure he is dreaming again of more worlds to conquer. I called him (to myself when I first met him) "a shrewd Yankee business man." That he was too. Most pioneers here came from the East.

My mother used to call on him with me when they were both 90 years of age. After 90, her doctors in Chicago felt it too far and long for her to travel. They both had much in common, as writers, slightly deaf, but annoyed at this and very active still. As we would leave, Allie Chauncey prepared for his daily walk around the block, alone, straight, and not very tall in stature, but tall in his accomplishments! No two persons had more different backgrounds. Mamma, a well educated, doctor's wife and

speaking of YOUR HEALTH

By Lester L. Coleman, M. D.

We live in cold country. It seems that someone in the family is always coming home with frostbite. The grownups and the children come into the house with their fingertips and toes almost blue, even when they wear heavy gloves. Is there any special precaution that can be taken? What is the safest household treatment for it?

Mrs. C. A., North Dakota
Dear Mrs. A.: Frostbite deserves more attention than it normally gets. For it is a severe injury to body tissue and can be responsible for many serious complications. The damage that it does to the skin and muscle can be compared to that of a very severe burn.

The hands, feet, ears, nose and cheeks are most frequently affected by their intense cold air. The blood supply becomes insufficient to bring blood, oxygen and warmth to the very tips of the exposed areas.

If this is allowed to continue or progress, gangrene, or death of body tissue, sets in and may result in the loss of a finger, toe or even a greater part of the arm or leg.

Carelessness is almost always responsible for frostbite. With adequate protection adults can enjoy outdoor work or exercise without the pain and incapacitation of frostbite. Children must, of course, be protected against hazards that are too young to understand.

The early stages of frostbite begin with a sense of numbness, mild pain, discoloration of the skin and a tingling pins and needles feeling in the exposed area.

If this is allowed to continue the feeling of itching and burning follows with a blanched white discoloration of the skin. At this time active treatment must be begun if real trouble is to be avoided.

Generally, it is believed that the frostbitten parts should be placed in warm water and kept immersed in the water for about 20 minutes until the temperature of the skin returns to normal.

There is a tendency to rub the frostbitten area to bring back the circulation. Thawing in cold water or rubbing with ice and snow is exceedingly dangerous.

Boots, socks and gloves should be removed very gently so that the skin is not broken. Hot drinks help as a stimulant and tend to open up the blood vessels and help the blood supply. Tobacco, in any form, does just the opposite and further closes down the blood supply to the frostbitten areas.

When the part has thawed out it should be cleaned gently with a mild soap. Do not use an antiseptic that contains alcohol.

In general, simply emergency home care must not be too energetic. As soon as possible professional help must be sought so that proper sedatives, and more intensive care can be prescribed. Hospitalization is sometimes necessary to prevent complications.

The obvious line of play is not always the best one. There are hands where you must reject what appears superficially to be the only method of play, and adopt in its place a different method, less obvious but more promising.

Take this deal where West leads the ace and another diamond. On the surface, there seems to be nothing else for declarer to do but draw trumps and then play the A-K of spades in the hope of dropping the queen.

This method of play would fail in the actual deal and South would go down one. East would take the setting trick with the queen of spades.

But there is a better chance of making the contract if South takes full advantage of the bidding and the play.

After two rounds of diamonds and three rounds of trumps South learns that West started with three hearts and (probably) seven diamonds. With ten of West's cards accounted for, declarer should assume that East is likely to have three or four spades to the queen.

Accordingly, he should try to squeeze East out of his probable spade trick. This he can do after first cashing another trump to produce this position:

South now leads the ten of hearts to put the screws on East. On the heart he discards the spade jack. East is then up against it for a discard.

If he discards a spade, declarer cashes the two high spades and thus makes the contract. And if East discards a club, in order to keep the spades guarded, declarer cashes the A-K of clubs and ruffs a club to make the contract.

BORN TODAY

Born at Antinum in 37 A.D., Roman emperor Nero, son of Domitian and Agrippina, daughter of Germanicus, was the last of the dynasty of Augustus.

Nero's mother married her uncle, the emperor Claudius, who adopted the young Domitian, renamed him Nero Claudius Caesar, and made him his heir. Nero came to power in 54 when his mother had the emperor poisoned.

Nero's reign began auspiciously, for he was a mild man while under the influence of his tutor, the philosopher Seneca, much of the responsibility for his subsequent cruel tyranny can be laid to his mother's evil influence. Murder, profligacy and extravagance marked his regime. Among the many he killed were his mother, two wives, the son of his benefactor, the poet Lucan, and an unnamed woman who refused to marry him.

But the majority of the victims of his blood lust were the Christians, many of whom he had executed when he blamed them for the disastrous fire which swept Rome in 64. Legend has it that Nero started the fire himself for the sake of a spectacle, and that he sang and played the harp while two-thirds of the city was consumed. After the fire he rebuilt the city on a grand scale, plundering the rest of the Empire to do so and making the enemies who eventually managed his downfall.

As fane as he was cruel, Nero fancied himself a patron of the arts and tried unsuccessfully to make a reputation as a poet, philosopher, musician, a actor and charioteer.

Others honor this day include painter Edwin Bastfield, producer Kermit Bloomgarden and millionaire J. Paul Getty.

LAKESHORE, ST. JOE LIONS HAVE GIANT JOB

School Advisers Like New SJ Plan

Expansion, Improvements Impress Council

Nearly 30 members of the Advisory Council on School Development last night took a three-hour look at St. Joseph school expansion plans—and said they liked what they saw.

Medical Officers Elected

Kennedy Heads Staff At Mercy

DR. F. A. KENNEDY

F. Alan Kennedy, M.D., a general practitioner in Benton Harbor for 17 years, last night was elected chief of the medical staff at Mercy hospital. He succeeds Dr. W. Alan Chelmer.

Other officers elected at the annual staff meeting are Dr. John Bailey, vice chief of staff; Dr. John Carter, secretary; and Dr. Edward C. Haupt, treasurer.

A native of St. Albans, Vermont, Dr. Kennedy was graduated from University of Vermont Medical School. He interned at Saginaw (Mich.) General hospital, then entered the Army Medical Corps serving as a captain.

He practiced in Tucson, Ariz., and Muskegon before coming to Benton Harbor. Dr. Kennedy was elected in October by the Berrien County Medical Society for outstanding service as team physician for Benton Harbor and St. John's high schools.

He and his wife are the parents of three daughters. The family resides at 582 Pearl street, Benton Harbor.

Grand Junction Santa Claus Awaits Letters

GRAND JUNCTION — Young patrons of the Grand Junction post office may still mail a letter to Santa Claus and receive a reply through that office, according to Postmaster Mrs. Betty Ospring.

Supt. Richard Ziehmmer polled the group to determine if they had any objections or reservations to the plans for a new 500-pupil junior high school and additions to St. Joseph Senior high school. The advisory council met with the School Board yesterday in the teachers dining room.

Particularly pleasing to advisory council members, especially those who have studied curriculum, was the fact that educational facilities will be improved in the present junior high school along with constructing the second junior high facility.

When the plans were first unveiled last Monday for the second junior high school, Supt. Richard Ziehmmer outlined improvements which he said would be built into the present junior high building on Niles avenue, St. Joseph. Among the innovations would be equipping eight classrooms with television outlets to permit scheduling of courses now beamed over the Midwest from planes flying over Lafayette, Ind.

REVIEW PLANS
The members of the advisory council spent most of the time going over the plans. They will take part in the presentation of the program before the election planned for mid-February.

Also present were members of the school board. They are scheduled to meet Monday in a special session to formally adopt the building program and set up an election to provide both the funds for building and for operations.

On the agenda is a $3.75 million building program which includes the second junior high school and additions to the senior high school to increase its present capacity of about 950 to around 1,500.

REPLACING LEVY
Also on the agenda is the decision regarding extension of operating millage. A 6.5 mill levy expires this year. Proposed to cover the expense of operating a new school and enrollment increases all along the line is a new extra operating tax of 8.74 mills.

Advisory council members had no objections to putting both the bond issue and the special operating proposal on the same ballot. The two items are so closely related they should appear together several members said. The school board is expected to set the date of the election, sometime the week of Feb. 13, after hearing from the State department of public instruction this week. That and the exact operating millage request is expected to stir the longest debate.

RETURNS HOME
GANGES — Mrs. Earl Sorenson has returned home after spending the past week in Butte hospital at Grand Rapids.

LOOKING FOR A CORNER: Members of the St. Joseph Lions club tried on their newsie sale paraphernalia before the annual Herald-Press Good Fellow sale starting at noon Friday. One concern of Co-Chairmen John Lindenfeld and Jack Lents, they said, is where they can find corners to replace the ones lost to urban renewal.

Two St. Joe Shops Plan Expansions

Adding Space In Elks Temple

Two tenants of the Elks Temple building on State street in St. Joseph will expand their store operations to take over space vacated by Avery and Longacre.

L. Raymond Leatz today announced he would move his Temple Barber and Beauty shop now at 406 State street to the 3,000-square-foot store which housed the men's wear shop and closed last fall.

Ken Wallis, owner of the Grace R. Pauley Co., 404 State street, will expand into the area where the barber and beauty shop is now located.

LEASES SIGNED
Leatz said all new equipment would be installed in his new shop. Separate entrances for the barber shop and beauty salon will be installed.

For Wallis floor space in his dress shop will be increased by one third.

St. John's Will Test Fall Frosh

All students who intend to enroll at St. John's high school, Benton Harbor, next September as freshmen transfers from other schools are requested to contact the St. John's office regarding placement tests.

The tests will be given in January. The school requests notification as soon as possible to determine how many will take the tests.

WHO WILL SIGN IT?: Claude Helmker (left), secretary of Mainstreet Toastmasters, signed Toastmaster of Year award presented to Al Hinkelman (right) but will have to wait for newly-elected secretary to take office before he gets his award signed. Co-awards were presented last night. The award was named in honor of Jim Holub, president-elect who died unexpectedly before he could take office. (Staff Photo)

Vandals On Rampage In B.H. And Benton

Windows in 25 vehicles were reported broken yesterday during a wave of vandalism which hit Benton Harbor and Benton township.

Benton Harbor police investigated 18 reports of broken windows during about a two hour period, beginning at 8:40 p.m. Seven similar reports were investigated by Benton township police.

Benton Harbor police reported that the damage appeared to have been done with a BB or gun. One witness told police his car window had been shot by someone in a light green Chevrolet moving along Hurd street in the city.

Poli said no description of its occupants has been received. All vehicles damaged, except one, were parked, police said. No one was reported injured.

In the city, seven of the vehicles were damaged while parked on Jennings avenue in the south side. Other damage, also on the south side, occurred on Superior street, Colfax avenue, Weld and Union streets and Bishop avenue.

Two of the vehicles damaged in the township had been parked on Reeder street. Other incidents were reported on Kullback drive, Napier avenue at I-94, Agard avenue, South Crystal avenue, and Clardelle drive.

Hinkelman, Helmker Get Award

'Toastmasters Of The Year'

District Governor Al Hinkelman and Secretary Claude Helmker were named "Toastmasters-of-the-year" last night at Mainstreet Toastmasters meeting in the Chicken Nook, St. Joseph.

The award, presented annually to the member who compiles most points for speeches, attendance, service to the club and community service, was officially proclaimed in memory of Jim Holub, president-elect who died unexpectedly last month.

BROWN ELECTED
Clarence (Chick) Brown was elected president last night to take the post Holub was to have filled. Past President Dick Derrick was elected educational vice president to fill the post Brown had been elected to earlier.

Page Bellinger won the best speech award. Henry Prillwitz gave his ice breaker and Ray Leatz gave an inspirational speech entitled "Follow the Stars." Bellinger's topic was "Christmas is not too commercial," a talk on Christmas customs around the world.

Three evaluators, James Basselman, Brown and Paul Jones tied for the best critics' award. Toastmaster was Jack Zylstra and general evaluator was Hinkelman. Irv Martin, the table topics chief, gave impromptu speech assignments to Brown, Duane Smith, Florian Beles and Basselman.

Second place winner in the Toastmaster of the year competition was Basselman while honorable mention went to Harry Nye and Bellinger.

B.H. Plant Employees Vote No

Employees of Quality Packaging Products, Inc., 352 West Britain avenue, Benton Harbor, Wednesday rejected representation by the United Paper Makers and Paper Workers (AFL-CIO).

The vote was 22 to 9 against the union, according to Irving Flamm, company president.

The union had represented workers at the plant when it was operated by Union Camp Paper Corp. Under Federal Trade Commission order to dispose of its Benton Harbor plant, Union Bag stopped production last December and sold out in July to Quality Packaging, a new corporation.

Quality Packaging produces packages for food and industrial products.

YULE BULBS STOLEN
John Rankin of 2724 Highland court reported to St. Joseph police Wednesday that 25 to 30 Christmas bulbs were stolen from a tree in his lawn Tuesday night.

CLOTHES GONE Players Left In Uniforms After Game

The visitors' locker room at a St. Joseph junior high school-Boynnton school basketball game was raided by thieves last night with the resultant loss of most of the clothes of six SJHS boys, according to Benton township police.

The game was being played at Bard school, 1200 East Main street, Benton township, when the theft occurred, police said. Lost were shoes, trousers and jackets valued at well over $100, police were told.

The schools split the two games they played. Boynnton won the eighth grade game 51-33 and SJHS won the seventh grade game 42-31.

B.H. Man Will Get WMU Degree

GAIL WEAVER

Gail Weaver, 1200 East Empire avenue, Benton Harbor, will graduate from Western Michigan university this Saturday with a bachelor degree in business administration.

The university information office reports it inadvertently left Weaver's name off the list of fall graduates supplied this newspaper last week.

Weaver is married to the former Pat Mawhinney and they are the parents of two children. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Weaver of Stevensville.

Become Newsies For A Day

Will Strive To Put Good Fellow Drive Over Top

Lions club members from St. Joseph and Lakeshore will hawk special editions of this newspaper Friday to put the 1966 Good Fellow fund over the top just as they have been doing for the past 13 years.

But this year the job looks to be tougher than ever.

The answer to this challenge will be to cover more area, see more people, pull off even more daring stunts. That's the word from Co-Chairmen John Lindenfeld and Jack Lents of St. Joseph and Otto Grau and Fred Jung of Lakeshore.

The drive will get under way to the tune of the sirens of the St. Joseph fire department pumper. Some of the Good Fellows will get a ride to their stations. This year the firemen will meet the Newsies at the front door of the Elks club.

FEWER SALES POST

Long time Newsies point to the loss of such lucrative selling spots as the lobby of the Whitcomb hotel, the Tip Top cafe and the Brass Rail. The Whitcomb closed unexpectedly and the Brass Rail and Tip Top cafe were closed by St. Joseph's urban renewal program.

Then the Newsies themselves have year after year kept pushing the record higher and higher. Last year the St. Joseph and Lakeshore Lions collected $2,422 in the newsie sale to help send the fund to a record total of over $4,500. That's $1,000 over the goal.

The two Lions clubs have set records in three of the last four years.

The weather was right around freezing all day last year but the spontaneous contributions of hundreds of men and women warmed the cold newsies.

The Newsie sale is the cornerstone of the Good Fellow drive. The drive starts right after Thanksgiving and residents from the Twin Cities to the Indiana-Michigan border slip contributions to the Herald-Press office by mail, by messenger or deliver the gifts themselves.

Then the Lions newsies take over. They station members at key traffic corners, roam through stores and factories, wherever people are gathered, to hawk their papers.

ATTITUDES VARY
In one case a donor gave a dime and asked for change. In another the check the newsie picked up ran into three figures.

Some places provided the newsies with carts to carry their papers. Some are ready and waiting to contribute.

This year the Newsies will gather at the St. Joseph Elks lodge for their pre-sale luncheon. There will be songs and considerable kidding but no pep talks. The Lions don't need any. There will be some friendly rivalry between the St. Joseph Lions and their offspring, the Lakeshore Lions who they helped to organize.

Last year the Lakeshore Lions' Barney Yaslick, the Stevensville village superintendent, outsold everybody by bringing in $134.

Grau and Jung after three years' experience have their drive highly organized. They have a lot of territory to cover but now they know the best ways to cover it. In each of the last three drives they doubled the previous year's collection. Last year they collected $500.10.

VITAL JOB
As soon as the drive is over the Good Fellow bookkeepers go to work. There are some 300 checks to write. The total varies. Sometimes a teacher will send in a note to tell of a family that has tough going and might be missed. Sometimes a neighbor will call. All information is kept confidential. Gifts go to large and small families, aged persons in convalescent homes.

Members of the St. Joseph police department deliver the gifts in St. Joseph. Members of the circulation staff deliver the Good Fellow gifts to those that live outside of St. Joseph.

Any late contributions go toward next year's campaign. This fund was put to good use last year. Two days before Christmas a fire in an apartment house in St. Joseph drove a dozen persons, including 10 children, into the street. All of the Christmas presents were destroyed. The Good Fellows were able to help literally on Christmas Eve.

NEWSIES ARE READY: These Benton Harbor Exchange Club stalwarts will be reinforced by dozens of other Newsies for the sale tomorrow. Newsies traditionally have provided the biggest single impetus to the Christmas Good Fellow fund. Left to right

JUDGE DENIES CHANGE OF VENUE FOR DOYLE

Growers Given Hope On Compensation Bill

Zollar To Propose Exemptions

Berrien Society Names Officers

By BRANDON BROWN
Farm Staff Writer

BERRIEN SPRINGS—Approximately 175 growers attending the annual Berrien County Horticultural Society meeting here Wednesday were promised an attempt will be made to amend a workmen's compensation law charging them $8.35 per $100 of payroll.

State Sen. Charles Zollar, (R-Benton township) said on Jan. 11, opening day of the 1967 legislative session, he will introduce a bill to exempt seasonal farm workers from the compensation law for 20 weeks each year.

Workmen's compensation on agriculture has been delayed two years but becomes effective May 1, 1967. Insurance companies have set premiums at about $8.35 for every $100 the grower pays in wages to covered workers.

Zollar's bill, an amendment to the state compensation law which pays workers for time off through injury or illness, would retain full coverage on year-round agricultural employees, and would retain medical insurance coverage on both year-round and seasonal workers.

NEW OFFICERS
Besides talks by Zollar and others, the meeting included election of 1967 officers: Edwin Radewald, Niles, president; Howard Bishop, Jr., Coloma, vice president; Gerald Rosenbaum, Coloma, secretary; and John Nye, south St. Joseph, treasurer.

Radewald and Bishop were advanced to top posts from lower positions, as is the custom in the horticultural society. Rosenbaum and Nye fill vacancies of retiring President Donald Stover of Berrien Springs and of Treasurer Charles Kibler of Coloma, who resigned.

Zollar's bill, presently in the legislative service bureau for preparation, answers grower complaints about what they call the high cost of compensation insurance for seasonal employees.

He said most growers already carry medical insurance on their workers.

The bill also answered one society resolution passed earlier in the day opposing workmen's compensation on agriculture and asking legislators to change it.

COMMENDATIONS
The remaining two resolutions commended retiring Berrien Extension Service Horticulture Agent Clifford Conrad for "long and faithful years of service to fruit growers" and the Benton Harbor City commission for its effort in relocating the city market.

blood testing program begun in 1955 indicated 177 out of some 526 growers "definitely showed what you would believe was dangerous phosphate absorption" from applying certain pesticide sprays, said District Extension Pesticide Agent William Thompson.

These findings, he said, point up the need for growers to maintain safeguards against contact with certain pesticide sprays.

"This does not mean they were on the verge of being killed," he said, "but they were on the way."

The testing program, paid by a chemical company and to be continued in 1967 on a fee basis at the tri-county level in southwestern Michigan, used blood cholinesterase levels as a yardstick to measure intake of phosphate pesticides. Repeated exposure can cause illness or even death.

'NO PROTECTION'
"There's a goodly number of you rascals who aren't using respirators or protective clothing," Thompson said.

Reporting on mechanical harvest of apples this past season, Silver Mill Fruit Exchange (Eau Claire) Fieldman Roland Laberdy said the fruit yielded "marketable" frozen pie slices with a grade of low C, compared to grades from C up to A for hand-picked apples.

Eau Claire Grower Herbert Teichman, who harvested over 12,000 bushels of apples with a modified cherry shaker and delivered them to five area processors for tests this year, said he thinks an apple shaker might be built for $15,000.

NEEDS BUSINESS
Benton Harbor City Manager Donald Stewart told growers they will have to patronize the city's 26-acre relocated fruit and vegetable market or it will collapse.

"If this thing doesn't pay its own way, you and I will be out of a market in a year or two," he said.

Benton Harbor is spending $472,000 on a "first stage" of market development, Stewart said, but cannot subsidize its operation.

He also asked buyers to bring all produce loads through the market, rather than "in the back door" to escape market fees.

Other talks included a prediction by MSU Agricultural Engineer John Donoh that the number of Michigan farmers will drop more than half by 1980; a warning by Congressman Edward Hutchinson that growers may expect increased competition from imported foods, especially Mexican strawberries, because of American tariff policy; and a panel on fruit pre-cooling that emphasized the higher quality and increased sales made possible by removing "field heat" from freshly-picked crops.

Forum On Aging Held In St. Joe

Prelude To 1-Year Planning Study

The Berrien County Council on Aging tuned up for its one-year planning and development study by holding its second annual forum on aging yesterday at the YWCA, St. Joseph.

Officials of the county council and the Michigan Commission on Aging participated with talks and a panel discussion on the present resources and future needs of Berrien's elderly population.

The forum served as a prelude to the planning study that the council will begin on Jan. 1, with Richard V. Barrie serving as project director. The one-year project recently received a $19,571 grant from the Michigan Commission on Aging under the federal Older Americans Act to finance 75 per cent of the total cost in 1967 of $26,628. Local sources will pay for the remainder of the project costs.

SEEK COORDINATION
Rabbi Irving Dick, president of the county council on aging, yesterday told the conference audience that one of the main tasks of the 1967 study will be to find ways of coordinating services already available for the elderly.

"In the Twin Cities area alone, we have 210 groups that now deal in one way or another with serving the aging population," Rabbi Dick said. "We must find ways to centralize our resources and to develop new programs where needed."

Gerald Wyman, director of the grants division of the Michigan Commission on Aging, noted that Berrien's project is one of 10 in Michigan that will be conducted during 1967.

"We expect big things from this council," Wyman said. "You have already proved your ability to move quickly. It is clear that you have dynamic leadership."

The first forum on aging was held a year ago under the sponsorship of the Community Services council, the planning body of United Community Fund. As a result of that meeting, the Berrien County Council on Aging, an autonomous county-wide organization, was formed several months later.

Wyman suggested a number of programs for the elderly that might be considered in Berrien county. Among them, he listed recreation centers, part-time employment plans, pre-retirement training, volunteer services for the aging, health classes, budget counseling and legal aid.

FUNDS EXPLAINED
He explained that, under the Older Americans Act, federal funds will pay for 75 per cent of the costs of approved programs in the first year. Federal support declines to 60 per cent and then 50 per cent in the next two years. After that, the programs must be financed entirely through local funds.

Yesterday's forum dealt with many phases of the financial and social needs of the elderly, with special emphasis on housing.

Mrs. Lou Simons, chairman of the Senior Citizens League, St. Joseph, said that current and planned housing projects for the elderly in Berrien county will provide 569 units. This includes projects in Benton Harbor, St. Joseph, Benton township, Niles and Sawyer.

"But there is an urgent need for more housing for the elderly," she stated. "The 1960 Berrien county census showed 13,410 persons over 65 years of age. But by 1970, it is estimated this will have risen to 19,400 persons."

William C. Clynes, assistant district manager of the Social Security Administration, said that 18,500 residents of Berrien are now receiving various Social Security benefits at a total monthly cost of $1,300,000.

NEEDS ARE GREAT
Charles Chaskes, executive director of the Michigan Commission on Aging, and William F. Mitchell, executive director yesterday's conference; Rabbi Irving Dick, president of the county council; Charles Chaskes, executive director, Michigan Commission on Aging; and William F. Mitchell, executive director, Twin Cities United Community Fund. (Staff photo) of the Twin Cities United Community Fund, both emphasized that federal sources alone cannot meet the needs of the elderly.

"The problems of the aging population must be met through the combined resources of both government and private social welfare agencies," Mitchell said.

Chaskes observed: "You should develop local programs that utilize the competence of the elderly, stimulate their acceptance of responsibility and increase their ability to participate in problem solving."

Noting that there are now 18 million Americans over 65, Chaskes added: "The problems of the aged cannot be separated from the total problems which confront our communities. The Community services for the aged are not keeping up with the demand."

ENDS FURLOUGH
GANGES — Robert DeZwaan has left for Yuma, Arizona for further Army training following a 12 day furlough he spent at Ganges with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius DeZwaan. The young man recently completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

BLOOMINGDALE, GOBLES
The combined Gobles and Bloomingdale high school bands will perform in "Sounds of Christmas" concerts next Monday and Wednesday. The combined 70-piece band will play favorites such as "Nutcracker Suite" and "The Night Before Christmas." Monday's performance will be at Gobles high school and the performance on Wednesday will be at Bloomingdale high school. Both concerts begin at 7:30 p. m. and admission is free. The combined band is under the direction of Martin Benstein, instrumental music director in both school systems.

Trial Set Next Month In Berrien

Sweet Seeks Reassignment To Hospital Case

A motion by Doyle Associates to have the County hospital annex price trial heard outside of Berrien county was denied by Judge Lucien Sweet of Kalamazoo in an opinion handed down Wednesday.

The judge announced at the same time that he has asked that his earlier request to the state court administrator to have Berrien Circuit Judge Karl Zick hear the upcoming trial be cancelled and that he (Judge Sweet) be reassigned to conduct the jury case.

Both opinions apply to the trial set to open on Jan. 17. The chancellor's denial of a Doyle motion for change of venue means the case will be heard in the Berrien circuit courtroom.

CITED PUBLICITY
Doyle had contended the great amount of publicity surrounding the prolonged litigation over the 260-bed hospital facility would make it impossible to obtain a fair and impartial judge.

Judge Sweet said: "It is the conclusion and decision of this court that an effort should be made to obtain a fair and impartial jury in the County of Berrien."

His opinion left the way clear, however, for Doyle to renew the request for change of venue if at jury selection time it becomes apparent an impartial panel cannot be obtained here.

STATES REASON
Judge Sweet explained he was asking to be reassigned to conduct the trial because of likelihood that one or both parties—Doyle and the county—will attempt to intercept other matters than are pertinent to the determination of claims. The only matter to be determined by the jury in this trial, he said, is the market value of the annex property.

In the opinion handed down yesterday, the Kalamazoo jurist also denied another attempt by the state's attorney general to be a party in the trial. He said the attorney general will not be permitted to take part in the examination or cross-examination of witnesses or the presentation of evidence or proofs, except as he may be able to do so by acting through either the county's legal counsel or Doyle's.

CHILDREN ENTERTAINED AT PARTY
Watervliet Paper Co. Stages Event

WATERVLIET—More than 550 children of employees attended the Watervliet Paper company's two Christmas parties last Saturday at the new Coloma high school.

Infants to teenagers were treated to a program headed by "Squeegie Goof-A-Lot" the clown. Others on the agenda were Sir Stanley Book and his trained birds and dogs plus accordionist Stan Sanka.

Following the performances of these entertainers in the auditorium, the children were each given gifts from toys booths erected in the school's auto mechanic classroom. Both Santa Claus and Mrs. Santa were there to visit with the children.

Planning the party and decorating the school were Ken and Dorothy West, Irving and Fran Kietzer, Charles and Laura Meagher, John Kendzior, Orrville Warsko and Larry Strouse.

PLANNING TRIP TO GERMANY
THREE OAKS—Mrs. Dennis Grosse will leave Dec. 30 from O'Hare airport, Chicago, for Frankfurt, Germany, where she will join her husband, Airman 3/C Grosse who is stationed at the Spangdahlem Air Base.

Before their marriage last Sept. 24 Mrs. Grosse was Miss Betty Jackson. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jackson.

Airman Grosse, the son of the Robert Grosse, has been in service since last June 20 and expects to be stationed in Germany for two years.

HONORED: Hazen Harner, commander of the Eau Claire American Legion post displays honors awarded the post for topping all Michigan's District 4 Legion posts in membership gains during 1966. The post hit 114 per cent of its yearly membership quota, going over the top for the second straight year.

AUTHENTIC MESSIAH: The original music for Handel's "Messiah" will be reproduced as closely as possible Saturday at 3:30 p. m. in the Pioneer Memorial church on the campus at Andrews university, Berrien Springs. Complete with harpsichord and baroque ornamentation, the Christmas presentation will be done by the 100-voice University Choral, shown above, and the University Orchestra. The chorale directed by Prof. Gerald Ferguson will sing from the front of the church beneath the pipes of the pipe organ while the orchestra conducted by Prof. Charles Davis will be divided. Trumpets and horns will be situated in church balcony and the rest of the orchestra will be situated in the front near the chorale. Soloists will be Ruth Archbold Sherman, Elizabeth Archbold McDonald, Enoch Sherman, and Vernon Andrews. The harpsichord will be played by Richard Randolph with C. W. Becker at the organ.

HOUSE LOSES ITS BACKYARD: This house in Redwood City, Calif., is perched precariously atop Nob Hill after a mud-slide triggered by heavy rains wiped away its backyard. Several homes in area, including this one, were evacuated.

Engineers Eye Berrien Problems

Water, Sewage Plans Under Study

Berrien board of public works has taken under advisement proposals by eight engineering consultants for water-sewer facility improvements throughout northern Berrien county.

Board members studies written proposals and interviewed representatives of the firms yesterday. One or more of the firms will be chosen to make a study into the feasibility of a water and sewer project to serve 14 local units in northern Berrien county.

The board will continue study of the proposals and one or more engineering proposals they feel would be most practical. It will then seek concurrence with the intergovernmental council (an association of representatives from the 14 units) on the choice of a firm to conduct the study.

Each consulting firm outlined how it would approach a feasibility study if it were to do it.

VAN BUREN COURT

The sentence will run concurrently with a Berrien county sentence of two to five years which Sink will be serving on a charge of receiving stolen property.

Herbert McClung, 46, was arraigned on a charge of assaulting a police officer. Upon the motion of McClung's attorney, the case was remanded to justice court for a preliminary examination.

Clarence Wallace Osborn, 19, Bloomingdale, entered a plea of innocent to a charge of larceny by conversion. Bond was continued pending trial.

Santa Will Return To Fennville

FENNVILLE — Santa Claus will make another visit to Fennville Saturday. He will be at the Farm Labor office on Main street from 2 to 5 p.m. to visit with children.

He made his first visit to the city last Saturday.

Santa is assisted by the women of the Fennville Service club and sponsored by the Fennville Chamber of Commerce.

In the open color competition Albrecht, Herb Hein, Bob Lamoreau and Arnold Schlender won top awards. Hein and Dick Lyon won top awards in the black and white division of selected subjects. Judges were Jim Huber, Duane Conklin and Leo Dalzell.

Serious Financial Bind Seen

Appeal For Aid To Sen. Zollar

The Berrien County hospital board appealed to State Senator Charles Zollar at a meeting last night for help in getting payment on long overdue medicare and medicaid bills.

Sheldon Heim, board chairman, said the hospital is getting low on funds and is waiting for nearly $250,000 in overdue payments from the two new government welfare programs.

Hospital Administrator Horsley said the situation is getting serious, but he emphasized that the hospital will be able to meet its next staff payroll and hopes to stay current with its creditors at the next billing period.

Heim and Horsley both explained that about 90% of the County hospital patients are on medicare or medicaid. Because of this high dependence on government payments the slow returns from the two programs have virtually wiped out a cash reserve the hospital had built up in advance of the start of the programs last July.

Heim said the hospital administration and board had anticipated there would be delay in getting the two new welfare programs running smoothly, and had built up a reserve of about $250,000, enough to keep going for about three months.

Zollar, who attended a special meeting of the board and other county officials last night, promised he would take immediate steps in Lansing to dislodge some of the hung up payments for the county.

One county spokesman blamed "the blizzard of paperwork" involved in the medicare and medicaid program for the long delays in payment. Another said there is "great confusion" in the programs.

Horsley said some of the overdue bills go back to July, the first month of the new programs. The bulk of them, however, are October bills.

Lose Barn To Fire At Buchanan

B U CHANAN — Buchanan township firemen spent two futile hours last night fighting a blaze that burned to the ground the barn of Lyle McMullen of Madron Lake road.

Nobody was injured, but a tractor and many small tools were lost in the fire, which was believed to have been caused by defective wiring. Sheriff's deputies from the Buchanan substation said no estimate was placed on the loss as yet. The McMullen farm is located on the Madron Lake road about a mile west of Buchanan.

Old Church Destroyed By Blaze

Over $8,000 Loss In Cass Fire

CASSOPOLIS — Chain Lakes Baptist church, a Calvin township landmark believed to be over 100 years old, burned down last night while firemen watched helplessly.

Cass county sheriff's deputies said they were notified of the fire at 8:40 p.m. Mrs. Gus Alford and Mrs. Dan Graber, who live nearby, called the Pent township fire department at Vandalia to the scene about ten miles southeast of Cassopolis.

Fire Chief Edward Pieczynski said when firemen arrived the large wood frame church had burned nearly to the ground. The church stood on a wooded hill of Chain Lakes road.

Pieczynski said the cause of the fire could not be determined. Unofficial estimates placed the loss at $8,000 to $10,000. The church was reported insured and the congregation had accumulated funds to build a new church.

New Buffalo Reader Reminisces

Chicago clubwoman of note, had led a rather sheltered life but full an interesting.

Allie Chauncey, working in a store at a young age in a country town and successfully making it pay and another business still important there, had little time for schooling. But he wrote "Berrien County," a book valuable already and in the future for historians of our larger community. His second book, "The Greatest Subdivision — Northwest Territory," is sold out too and was in demand although out of print now.

These books contain names and accomplishments of those before us but many were personally known to Allie Chauncey. No more gentlemanly, courteous person is there, with his long years of living, unless it could be Rabbi Irving Dick, younger and newer to our community.

Another who comes to mind was "G r a d m a" Hannah Klaackie who grew up on a farm between Berrien Springs and St. Joseph. She worked and often told me of how she made stockings. She did make stockings in a Benton Harbor factory years ago, and how much fun it was to have a few minutes with her "girl friends" to go boating on the St. Joseph river, rowing (rowingboat to her then).

I wonder if there is something in the simpler life and stamina of these older persons and many more like them in Berrien county. When Grandma Hannah was 101 years old, she lived to be 102 years, alert to the end, she was honored at a luncheon in Benton Harbor by a Veteran group. I was privileged to attend with her family members. When asked what she contributed her long life to, she immediately answered (without prompting either) loud and clear, simply: "Hard work!" She and her husband lived on a farm near the twin cities and raised a large family, many members of whom are even now valuable, important citizens in side Michigan and around the world.

My own mother spent her whole life in Chicago. Then her life was simpler, even in big cities. Air was not polluted, water was presumed safe, and many things we are not plagued with today. However, all over was cholera and other horrible diseases not yet conquered anywhere in the USA or world. They lived a slower pace, had time to think, and be neighborly even in Chicago with harder living conditions.

There surely must be and are more elderly persons living now in Berrien county, just as old, useful and active.

Years ago there was a place in every home for honored grandparents.

A leading magazine this month features an article, "Grandparents for the Asking," a program for children that is highly successful. Grandparents with good health and their experiences and patience. It is generally about youngsters in institutions. Grandparents invariably help a child more than do foster parents who are younger, or often had less experience, particularly less patience, in their understanding a child.

This is only one way aging persons can do to keep active and feel useful and wanted.

It does not tell of the infirm or those who need various other kinds of help themselves as our Council on Aging will do.

We are told we begin to age the second we are born.

Rabbi Irving Dick has brought to fruition a group to help all growing a wee bit feeble and less active, the same as Allie Chauncey already accomplished for and by himself.

Congratulations to these two men and others who do and are active in our Berrien county including our women. We can rightfully boast of all of them belonging to our own larger community.

Major Bills On Agenda Of Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Decisions affecting the future of 10 major and controversial laws expiring next June 30 will give the new Congress a built-in load of work when it meets Jan. 10.

Among the big ones which will die in midyear unless extended are the draft law, the Reciprocal Trade Act and the antipoverty program.

They are likely to cause the most controversy and to dim hopes for an early adjournment, for, added to them, will be new legislation to be proposed by the President, including increases in Social Security benefits and perhaps a tax boost.

The President's authority to induct young men into military service has been extended periodically, the most recent extension having been for five years. There is wide disagreement among congressmen over what form the next extension should take. The House Armed Services Committee already has started preliminary work on a new draft law and will make it its first order of business.

Captain Tells Board Of Lake Storm

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Capt. Thomas J. Connelly of the E. Y. Townsend, sister ship of the ill-fated Daniel J. Morrell, returns to the witness stand today in the U.S. Coast Guard inquiry on the Morrell disaster.

Others expected to testify are J.F. Perrine, chief engineer of the Townsend, and Capt. James Van Buskirk, master of a Ford Motor Co. ship, the Benson Ford, which was on Lake Huron Nov. 29 when the Morrell sank.

The Morrell is believed to have broken in two before it sank to the bottom of the lake during the season's most violent storm. Twenty-eight crew members lost their lives.

The sole survivor, Dennis C. Hale of Ashtabula, is expected to testify later.

Connelly, under questioning all day Wednesday, said the Nov. 28-29 storm was the worst he has ever seen in the Great Lakes in his 27 years as a sailor.

Riders Introduce New Club Officers

BUCHANAN — Newly-elected officers were introduced at a recent meeting of the Westerners Riding club in the Bertrand township hall. They are Ernest Ringler, president; Robert Best, vice president; Mrs. Elza Smith, secretary, and Mrs. Roy Boles, treasurer.

Taverns Warned

State Won't Allow Topless Waitresses

LANSING (AP) — Michigan won't follow California in the bid for topless waitresses, the State Liquor Control Commission has warned the bars and cocktail lounges under its control.

"That was the last problem we've had in the Detroit area," Noack said. "I don't think it (toplessness) will get started. Of course, it will mean constant surveillance."

The matter came up at a commission hearing Tuesday when Robert Hammond of the Michigan Temperance Foundation asked what steps were being taken to prevent waitresses from working in topless outfits.

It was Leonard's last commission hearing. He leaves Jan. 1 to become a judge of Detroit Recorder's Court.

Parochial Aid Debates Scheduled

Dr. Littlefair To Speak For CAPE

GRAND RAPIDS — A series of four debates on the question of state aid to parochial schools were announced today for Van Buren, Allegan and Ottawa counties by Jay Wabeke, program co-ordinator for Citizens for Advanced Public Education (CAPE).

Wabeke said preliminary arrangements have been made to have Dr. Duncan Littlefair, pastor of the Fountain Street church in Grand Rapids and member of the board for CAPE, debate with Dr. John Vandenberg, vice president of Calvin college and chairman of the Michigan Chapter of Citizens for Education Freedom (CEF).

CEF, Wabeke charges, is an organization that is promoting Michigan legislation to obtain aid to church supported schools and colleges.

He said CAPE is a group that stands opposed to this issue and Dr. Littlefair will speak on behalf of CAPE.

The debates are set for January 26 at Holland, February 23 at Grand Haven, March 30 at Allegan and April 20 at South Haven, Wabeke said. All are planned for 8 p.m.

He said they will be jointly sponsored by CAPE and some local organizations. The locations of the debates will be announced later.

Methodists Plan For Christmas Show In Gobles

GOBLES — All Sunday School children will participate in the Kendall Methodist church's Christmas program on Wednesday at 8 p.m. An offering will be collected and sent to the Children's Home at Detroit. Miss Carol Joe Uramkin and charge of the program.

Buchanan Choir Will Present 'Night Of Nights'

BUCHANAN — A Christmas cantata entitled "Night of Nights," will be presented by the choir of the Church of the Nazarene at 7 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 18, under the direction of Mrs. Howard S. Martin, wife of the pastor.

Miss Carol Snelson, will be the soprano soloist, Mrs. Edith Pruett and Mrs. Ruby Hall will sing an alto duet, and Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Pruett will sing a soprano and alto duet.

Immediately following the cantata there will be a candle-light Christmas service conducted by the Rev. Martin.

Great Lakes Pollution Report Due

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Progress each state has made in controlling Great Lakes water pollution will be outlined today at the annual meeting of the Great Lakes Commission.

Sen. Birch E. Bayh, D-Ind., will address tonight's banquet, winding up the two-day conference.

A proposed water management agency for the Great Lakes waterways system won commission approval Wednesday. The agency would band together the eight Great Lakes states, two Canadian provinces and the federal governments of both countries.

Indiana Secretary of State Edgar D. Whitcomb, who was re-elected commission chairman, said it would coordinate regional activities and fill voids in areas not covered now by the states or provinces.

Ohio State Rep. Robert E. Stockale of Kent was elected vice chairman of the commission.

Troops Seize Venezuela University

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Troops occupied the campus of Venezuela's Central University Wednesday and, using mine detectors, found a large cache of arms.

Witnesses said snipers opened fire when the troops began moving among the buildings. The soldiers shot back. One soldier was killed.

The seizure of the university followed a wave of terrorist attacks in past weeks against government officials, police and military officers, and American property. One army officer has been killed.

Under a suspension of constitutional guarantees announced Tuesday, the government has authorized arrests without warrants, curtailed political activity, partly censored the press, and assumed the right to rule by decree if it considers that necessary.

26 Killed As Plane Hits Bus

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—An Iraqi air force training plane crashed into a bus near the Iraq-Syria frontier Wednesday, killing all 25 passengers on the bus and the pilot of the plane, Baghdad radio reported today.

The broadcast said the crash occurred inside Iraqi territory, 44 miles from an Iraq Petroleum Co. desert station.

A spokesman for the bus company reported the victims were all Arabs.
